

RESTA TO LEAD ARMY BAND CONCERT

Washington Barracks Organization Will Appear at Central High School.

The Army Band, recently organized, and now stationed at Washington Barracks, will make its initial appearance as a concert organization at Central High Community Center next Sunday night at 8:15 o'clock. This band, with Mrs. Mary Sherier Bowie, soprano, and Margaret Mansfield, violinist, will feature the fifth concert of the Sunday night series being presented by the Community Music Association of Washington.

The band is composed of carefully selected musicians. Their appearance in concert will be under a new director, Rocco Resta. Mr. Resta is a musician of wide experience and exceptional ability, both as band and symphony orchestra leader.

The increased attendance at the Central High concert last Sunday night, when 1,700 people were present, has made necessary a rearrangement of the reserved seat sections. In response to requests for reserved seats in the balcony, the first five rows will be reserved, in addition to the present reserved section on the main floor.

Community singing, under the direction of Robert Lawrence, will be an important part of the evening's entertainment.

HUNGER AT ROOT OF EUROPE'S TROUBLE

Senator France Advises 'Tiger' to Solicit Food Instead of Armies.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHISON, International News Service.

The entire political structure of Europe is tottering because of the slow starvation of her people, Senator Joseph I. France (Rep.) of Maryland declared today.

He predicted the deaths of 1,000,000 persons in Europe this winter from actual starvation, widespread food riots, unemployment uprisings, and even revolutions. He declared Georges Clemenceau should appeal for food, not American intervention, on his trip across the continent.

"The American farmer alone can save Europe by producing and exporting enough grain to meet food requirements abroad," said France. "The actual grain shortage in Europe will total 800,000,000 bushels this winter—equal to the entire American wheat crop in a good year."

Europe's most serious problem at this time is food, France declared. "Revolutions are brought about by hunger," he said. "The fundamental cause for unrest, the social and political disturbances, in Germany, Italy and England is the lack of food. If there should come a world conflagration as Clemenceau warned, it will be due to hunger. This is forecast now by the unemployment uprising in England, the food riots in Berlin and the Fascist revolution in Italy."

The cause, France said, was due to the elimination of Russian grain from the food supply of the world. Russia, he added, produced one-fifth of the world's grain supply, exporting 460,000,000 bushels to the industrial centers of Europe. This winter Russia will export nothing but will import 100,000,000 bushels to feed her own people, France added.

"Russia's grain formerly went to Germany, France and Italy," France continued. "This is a manifest shortage of 500,000,000 bushels. In addition, cables to the Department of Agriculture show the shortage of wheat in Europe outside Russia will be 210,000,000 bushels as compared to last year."

"This total shortage of 800,000,000 bushels, with an individual ordinarily using five bushels per year, will mean that 160,000,000 persons will be on short rations in Europe this winter. From such a situation, there will be many millions suffering from malnutrition and at least 1,000,000 persons will perish from actual starvation."

"It is strange that Clemenceau does not speak of this situation nor suggest the real remedy instead of intervention. The relief only can be furnished by abundant exports from the United States. The American farmer must save Europe, and his statement by helping him do this will in turn save the American farmer from ruin."

Pocket Radio May Be In Common Use Before Long

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—A pocket or wrist-watch radio receiving set may be the next step whereby people can "listen in" anywhere, according to David Sarnoff, vice president of the Radio Corporation of America, in an address last night before the New York Electrical Society.

Regarding development in equipment, he said:

"We have today the idea of a receiving set which serves the family or the community hall. Next may come the individual receiver, worn on the person, in the vest pocket or perhaps in wrist-watch form, so that the individual in his home or in his office or on the country road may 'listen in' as he will to the news and entertainment of the world."

Newport News, Va., are guests here of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Porter. They will remain here until after Thanksgiving.

ILOCANOS THINK STORM DIVINE VISITATION

Simple Natives Say Wrath of Gods Is Directed Against Modern Inventions.

By International News Service. MANILA, Nov. 21.—Typhoons and other disturbances, terrestrial and marine, which recently ravaged the provinces occupied by Ilocanos, the people of Malayan origin, with perhaps some Japanese blood, certainly some Chinese, on the northwest coast of Luzon, have recalled the superstitions of this people regarding storms. They think of storms as a divine visitation and feel that their fields are destroyed by wind and flood because they have offended the deities. The spirit of the storm is personified for them in a man-god sent by the Supreme Being to administer punishment upon the sinful. He is fiercest when avenging the use of inventions, such as the stripping machines imported by the International Harvester Company, that the Ilocanos have been using to clean their maguay fiber with, instead of retting it in salt-water. (Field crickets nibble at binder-twines made from retted fiber in order to get the salt, and so its importation into the United States is prohibited. When the crickets cut the twin the sheaves of grain are loosed.)

Using such inventions as stripping machines is "following the devil's wisdom" to the old-time Ilocano; and when a typhoon destroys his maguay fields he is not surprised. The man-god that works in the typhoon is supposed to wield two instruments of destruction—the bolo and the ax. In a moderate storm he is only using a big bolo, "nagtagubadang," and in a harder storm his huge axe, "nagtagubadang."

In spite of superstitions, however, machines for stripping fiber and also other modern aids to agriculture and rural living are being introduced successfully. The beliefs in evil spirits and avenging deities are old, and the young Ilocano is progressive.

CONCRETE SLAB OVERHEATED STARTS FIRE

Blaze in Commission House of Frank B. Guest Has Peculiar Origin.

The origin of a fire that occurred at the establishment conducted by Frank B. Guest, commission merchant, at 815 and 917 Louisiana avenue northwest, this morning, is one of the most peculiar in the history of the fire department.

A concrete slab beneath a chicken-scaolding vat became so heated that it caused the joints beneath it to ignite. The flames swept downward from the third floor and ignited the chicken crates and many cases of onions that were stored on the second floor. Because of inflammable material that was in the place a second alarm was sent in to fire headquarters. Damage is estimated at about $500.
